International Business: Multidisciplinary perspectives with an emphasis on legal issues

Introduction

The nature of business in the 21st century requires professionals around the world to take their business and marketing function to a new level. Having to compete in a globalized business environment characterized by an increase in transparency, proliferation of brands, fragmentation of media, and a changing of stakeholder expectations around the world, business owners are facing considerable challenges. At the same time, technological innovations, the reduction of trade and investment barriers around the world, and the unequalled access to global markets provide companies today with unprecedented opportunities to market their products internationally.

Course Description

This course presents a systematic overview of international business and marketing, with an emphasis on legal issues. As the world becomes more integrated, a solid understanding of international business concepts and their associated implications has become essential for corporate decision-making. This course provides a thorough exploration of the key dimensions of the international business environment, including political, social, economic, legal, and cultural issues. Through practical case studies, team projects, and visits to leading European organizations, students will be exposed to the actual implementation of the topics covered in class. Students will be able to acquire a current, hands-on perspective on international business, with a particular geographic emphasis on Italy and the European Union.

Course Objectives

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Develop a solid understanding of the foundations of international business and the cultural context for managing in diverse international environments
2. Identify the key economic, political, and social factors that influence the rapidly changing product and service markets around the world
3. Examine the strategies and structures that firms adopt in order to compete effectively in the international business arena
4. Discuss the growing importance of internet technologies and online social networks on global product

- and service markets and the international marketing strategy
5. Describe the planning, personnel, and corporate organizational structure necessary to implement a successful global strategy
  6. Examine the policies and practices of multinational corporations regarding ethics, social responsibility, and the environment
  7. Understand the past, present, and future of the European Union and the numerous opportunities it offers for international business

Course Requirements

The course requires active student participation. Students are expected to read the required materials before every class. Punctual attendance is required. There will be a midterm exam, a final exam, a group project and a final presentation. Each student is required to participate in professional visits and cultural visits, as well as the International IQ Seminar.

Teaching Procedures and Methodology

Teaching methods used in this course include lectures, discussions, assignments, and professional and cultural visits. Learning in this course requires the student's constructive participation and active involvement in both class discussions and small group discussions. The professional visits will expose the participants to different aspects of the class and will highlight the practical relevance of the concepts learned. Cultural visits enhance the students' understanding of the history and culture of the country.

Attendance Policy

Students are permitted to miss class only once, due to illness, injury, or another appropriate reason. Missing more than once may result in a letter grade deduction for every additional absence.

Participation in "Europe Today: An International IQ Seminar"

All students also attend Europe Today: An International IQ Seminar, a daily session conducted by the Program Director, Dr. Hugo Hervitz. In this seminar, students learn about the culture of each country, gain an understanding of essential European geography and current events, discuss their experiences and cross-cultural interactions, get language tips, and identify ways to have an even more immersive study abroad experience. The material covered in the seminar complements the syllabus for this course, and there will be some exam questions based on the seminar. Participation in the International IQ Seminar is factored into the grade for this course.
